

According to the U.S Bureau of Labor Statistics, the IT Industry unemployment rate is at an epic low of 1.4%. This is lower than any other occupation including Healthcare, Science, and Management roles. With such a low unemployment rate, the challenge for finding quality IT hires is even higher. Our job is to help our clients activate ideas while designing sourcing and delivering recruitment solutions for talent acquisition teams. Our strategic partnerships support our clients with the many challenges they face while trying to attract top IT and Engineering talent.

Our recruiters maintain relationships with 81% of the IT work force; AGS along with our Allegis Group colleagues speak with 100,000 IT professionals per week.

With 35+ years of recruiting experience supporting over 6,000 IT clients backed by Allegis Group, including 80% of the Fortune 500 across North America, Europe and Asia, the bottom line is this: our deep insight into the IT labor market enables us to help clients achieve their business goals - while optimizing their IT workforce strategies.
